The Forum is a working meeting for Senior International Officers (SIOs), Vice Presidents for Research (VPRs), Graduate Deans, Provosts and faculty to identify best practices for developing institutional strategies for globalizing the research mission of the university.

Developing Institutional Strategies for Growing Global Research

An AIEA Thematic Forum • April 6 – 8, 2014 • University of South Florida, Tampa

REGISTRATION OPENS JANUARY 6, 2014

SAVE THE DATE

APRIL 6-8, 2014

Forum Highlights:
Articulating the Value Proposition—Making the Case for Institutional Global Engagement in Research will result in a statement of the value to the institution for SIos and VPRs to use in making the case for a proactive institutional engagement strategy to grow global research at a university.

Track I: Promoting and Advancing Global Research will delve into institutional incentives and challenges to creating a globally-focused research campus, optimizing faculty and student engagement in global research, global research-friendly policies, reward and incentive structures for results.

Track II: Managing International Research and Global Partnerships will engage participants in a discussion of institutional best practices in carrying out a global research enterprise, including managing risk, IP, research integrity, accountability and mutual understanding among global partners, and structuring research relationships in multi-cultural and multi-language environments.

• Metrics for Assessing the Management of International Research and Global Partnerships
• Global Research Funding Agency Networking

Who should attend? Leaders of research and international programs at research-active public and private universities.

Join the conversation next April in Tampa...

Learn more and register at global.usf.edu/globalforum/
Contact Annie Tai at (813) 974-0589 or AnnieTai@usf.edu for information.